

Personalized Learning Discussion Guide

Over the past nine months, many persons have been involved in developing the themes and ideas to support Personalized Learning here in British Columbia. More than 2000 teachers, administrators, parents and students have participated in conferences, workshops and meetings and have offered comments and insights that have helped refine those ideas. The next step is to share these ideas more widely across the education sector.

For that reason, an interactive discussion guide has been designed to allow people to learn about the directions the school system may possibly take and to provide feedback on those possibilities. This feedback will help the Ministry of Education to create more concrete plans over the coming year.

You can find the Personalized Learning Interactive Discussion Guide by clicking on the URL below.

www.personalizedlearningbc.ca